We have endeavoured to make this our strongest offering to date and accordingly, Sweet Home Ranch will part with many of its best J. W. Bennett-bred females. They provide a real investment opportunity.

From the other consignors is an excellent group of females, many open and suitable for 4-H club work. We recommend them heartily and hope that junior members will take advantage of the $25 certificates available to them for each animal they buy.

Plan too to join us the night before the sale for a casual buffet dinner in the Kopper Kitchen in Salem. We look forward to visiting with you there.

About Sweet Home Ranch

Your best reference to Sweet Home Ranch, its herd bulls, its goals, is in the 20-page Sweet Home brochure that appeared in the Year-End Review Number of The Shorthorn World. If you would like to have an additional copy, just write to Sweet Home Ranch or to the sale manager.

Briefly, however, you should know that Sweet Home is located high in the Coast Range mountains of Oregon, about 15 miles inland from the Pacific Ocean.

The cattle are developed naturally in this rugged terrain competing with deer, elk, and other wildlife for forage and survival.

The emphasis at Sweet Home has always been on size, and you'll find some of the biggest stock bulls of the breed among them.

In 1968 the Kessi family, recognizing the value of auction sales as a method of breed promotion, began the current Big Elk Sale series with their friends and neighbors from the Pacific Northwest. So far six auctions have been held successfully, and they are planned twice yearly in March and October.

The top-selling Polled Shorthorn bull in North America sold there last fall. The top-selling Polled Shorthorn female in 1971 sold at Big Elk. Yes, there is plenty of quality available and leading herds will vie for it.

Perhaps more important, however, is that the cattle have sold to widely-scattered areas and have performed well for their new owners. Although top prices are always those most easily remembered, it is important to keep in mind that bulls and females alike have sold here most economically. More often than not the calf a Sweet Home cow is carrying will return her original purchase price and considerably more.

This sale features a large number of females backed by the potent breeding of J. W. Bennett of Hilldale fame. Nowhere else are so many of these great females available for sale. No sale this spring will present a better opportunity to buy the really big Big Elk kind.

The Bennett Influence

You'll notice that a large portion of the sale offering from Sweet Home Ranch traces to the pre-potent breeding of J. W. Bennett of Hilldale Ranch.

From 1920 to its dispersion after Bennett's death in 1967, the Hilldale herd was known throughout the world. The Bennett cattle included several International grand champions and were eagerly purchased by breeders from every state, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain. The herd became the largest Polled Shorthorn unit in the world and was considered the source for improving stock.

The Hilldale cattle were big in the days before really large cattle were universally popular. But they had more . . . quality. Bennett himself said he always sought natural fleshing without overfitting; good conformation, width of body and sound feet and legs. That he accomplished his goals is amply demonstrated by his domination of major shows throughout both the United States and Canada.

The Bennett goals are the same as most everyone's today. Sweet Home Ranch, however, was earlier to recognize them. Today you'll find more Hilldale blood concentrated at Sweet Home than at any herd in the world.

The acquisition of Hilldale Jerry x by Hillday Sunray x in 1962 was a milestone for Sweet Home. That bull served at the head of the herd until his death in 1972. His last sons sell on March 17. Most of the best females at Sweet Home are his daughters.

Study carefully the pedigrees in the Sweet Home consignment. They present a very rare opportunity to tie to the blood of one of the greatest Polled Shorthorn herds the world has ever known.

SWEET HOME JERRY 3rd x — This is a tall, large bull. He will make an excellent herd bull for most herds seeking to improve their size. He stands well on very good legs and feet. This is the primary place that most of today's Shorthorns need upgrading. After seeing many of the largest Shorthorns of today I am convinced that the Sweet Home bulls in this sale will benefit at least 97% of the herds in this country in strengthening their legs, feet, backs and heart girth as well as to increase their grade and yield of packaged meat. This is one of the last two sons of the great old Hilldale Jerry x. The dam of Sweet Home Jerry 3rd x is one of the good Birchdale cows that have pleased their new owners so well.

SWEET HOME BOBO 2nd x — In our judgment, this bull shows every indication of becoming a very large, heavy-bodied bull with lots of length on very strong legs and feet. We rate him the best of our 1970 crop. He is going to be a very tall bull. At present he is two inches taller than the other bulls in his age group and has exceptional strength in his legs and feet. We cannot recommend this bull too highly. Not only is he a great individual but he has some of our very best breeding back of him. He is bred much the same as Sweet Home Sunray x that went to Miller, Notimier and Fredrickson at $4,400 in our last sale. His sire is the white monster Bobo x. His dam, Sweet Home Bessie x, has given us four of our best calves. She is probably as valuable as any cow we own at this time. Her dam is the big, long, red Sweet Home Muffin x, a very heavy, straight-bodied daughter of the original Sweet Home Lassie x. Muffin x also has had exceptionally good calves. After much consideration, we pasture exposed all the Bennett-bred females in this sale to Sweet Home Bobo 2nd x after January 16. This should add much value to the cows.

SWEET HOME JERRY 6th x — This is a very dark roan bull of pleasing appearance. He has the promise of becoming a valuable herd sire and carries well the prominent traits of Sweet Home cattle. His dam, Birchdale Pearl, is a very large, beautiful light roan. She is the only Birchdale cow that has won a permanent berth in the Sweet Home herd. We are quite sure this large bull will continue to grow and be an asset to a proud new owner. This is the last young son of the great old Hilldale Jerry x and he may well grow into a larger bull than old Jerry x.

SWEET HOME BOBO 4th x (Tony x) — This is another tremendous son of the great white monster Bobo x. His dam is one of the best and largest of the daughters of Hilddale Jerry x. The maternal granddam of Tony x was one of the original super large cows we first bought from Cox & Cox. Her sire was a W. J. Leonard bull. The Leonard herd at that time was comprised of the truly great western type Shorthorns of the early days. When you look at this young bull, you should remember that you are comparing him with bulls that are several months older than he is. Tony x will be a top herd sire. Whoever buys him will be very proud of him. He is certainly one of our favorites; that is why we have made a pet of him.

RT SHORTHORN RANCH

Robert and Iris Tracy, Bonanza, Ore., are relatively new to the Shorthorn business but the entire family takes a lively interest in the cattle.

In the spring of 1972 they purchased the well-known Beaulieu herd from Wesley Ross, Rainier, Wash. This was one of the most select herds in the Pacific Northwest and produced champions at the western shows that went on to All-American honors.

The Beauty and Lass females from Beaulieu were particularly successful in the show ring and his bulls were readily accepted by purebred breeder and commercial man alike.

Beaulieu was in business for 21 years so you can be sure of buying locked-in quality in the Tracy consignment of open heifers.

These Shorthorn crossbreds at Green Acres Ranch, Junction City, Ore., owned by Mr. & Mrs. Woodrow K. Black, prove the value of Shorthorn bulls in any commercial operation.

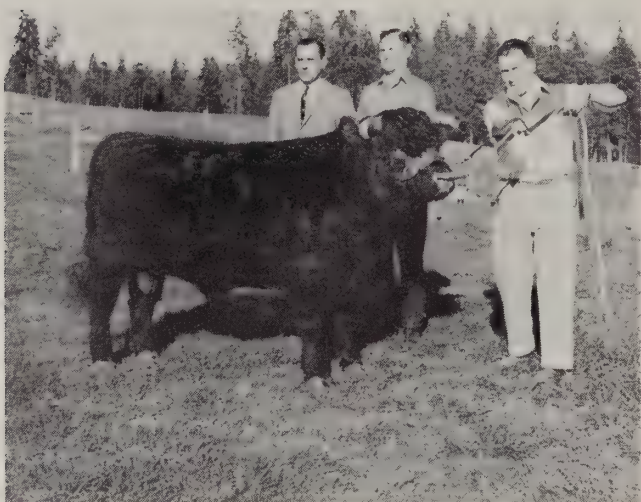

GREEN ACRES

Just outside Junction City, Ore., you'll find the Green Acres herd of Woodrow and Vivian Black. While the herd is not large, it's in an excellent location along the highway and provides a good showcase for the breed.

Senior stock bull is Mains Forward Thrust that was purchased at the top of the 1969 Mains Farm production sale. Also in service is Lindcrest Max 3rd x purchased from Harold Preston, Warden, Wash.

In the February 3 Klamath Falls All-Breed Bull sale Green Acres consigned four head including the reserve grand champion that was by Mains Forward Thrust and weighed 1,700 pounds at 23 months. Two of the heifers selling in their consignment are his half sisters.

There are still a few two-year-old bulls available at the ranch and your visit is cordially invited before or after the Big Elk sale.

MAINS FORWARD THRUST is senior herd sire at Green Acres Ranch. Purchased at the top of the 1969 Mains Farm Production sale he's by Mains Cloudburst, is long, well-muscled and has plenty of scale and capacity. Further, he passes these qualities along to his offspring. He is the sire of Lots 45 and 46 in the Black consignment.
